Annual OMNI-BOO Luncheon
Wear your favorite Halloween costume if you please!

Official Annual Meeting
Election of Officers - Approval of Budget

our speakers:

. . . And Then There Were Four . . .

There is one way for you to find out if four speakers instead of one will make our annual Omnilore Halloween Forum Bash better than usual. Of course, that would be by attending it.

This event is always special: election of officers and board members, an excellent luncheon sure to include an orange colored dessert, creative costumes adorning fellow members who are delightful to behold, and legendary Omnilore camaraderie at its peak. Now add to that four working writers of mystery and detective stories, all recipients of a multitude of prestigious literary awards and honors.

They are, Lois Bruckman, who has written of a "flawed but appealing" heroine in faraway places, C.F. Buck, distinguished literary society, Boucheron honoree, and poker player par excellence, Matt Coyle, who was a boy when he was smitten by a Raymond Chandler novel, and Naomi Hirhara, whose diverse characters have shown up in the South Bay.

This is a party you do not want to miss!

When: Friday, October 31, 2014, Social Hour - Doors open at 11 a.m.
